Dirty Bomb Detectors at Ottawa Airport

Josh Pringle

Wednesday, December 08, 2004 12:00 AM

Dirty-bomb detectors are being installed at the Ottawa International Airport.

The federal project is aimed at eventually adding them to airports and cargo shipping docks across th

Officials are concerned about the possibility of a dirty bomb packed with conventional explosives beir

The system will consist of both fixed sensors in the corridors of the Ottawa airport -- as well as roving

Project partners include the federal Health and Transport departments, the Ottawa police service, the

The project is only a small part of a five-year, 170-million dollar plan to strengthen Canada's border d
